PRONUNCIATION GUIDE

This pronunciation guide has been compiled primarily for radio and television broadcasters. We have used, therefore, the phonetic system to which they have become accustomed in reading news reports from the major "wire services" or news gathering agencies, United Press International and Associated Press. The advantage to the broadcaster is, of course, the ease with which he can learn the system. The advantage to the compiler is that this system uses no symbols that cannot be found on the standard typewriter.
